Title: Subtitle

Some things I learned while doing this assignment were the importance of a cover letter, the process after submitting your application, and how to make your resume stand out, and how power verbs increase your chance of getting a job. When applying to any professional job it's important for you to have an elegant resume. This is important because this will allow the hiring manager of your future job to take you seriously and see you as professional. First impressions are important.

Another thing I learned was what's the process after submitting your application. For example what happens on the other side of this process. Who looks at it first? How does it get filtered out from all the other resumes?
